TEN REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD HELP THE TALMUD TORAH!

RABBI FERDINAND M. ISSERMAN

1. Because as a Jew every Jewish cause should be your cause.

2. Because as a Jew you desire to perpetuate your faith and nothing in Jewish life does more for the perpetuation of Judaism than Jewish religious schools.

3. Because the Talmud Torah teaches Torah, the treasure-house of the noblest ideals of man.

4. Because a knowledge of Torah will give the Jewish youth that spiritual and moral fibre which has distinguished the Jew throughout his history.

5. Because as a Canadian, there devolves upon you the duty to help the Jewish youth develop its promise.

6. Because as an intelligent person (and when we use the word person we mean man or woman), you know that food for the spirit is just as important for man as food for the body, for "where there is no vision a people perisheth." The Talmud Torah gives such vision.

7. Because the Talmud Torah teaches the children of humble men and women.

8. Because you desire to co-operate with the public-spirited men and women, who work for all causes, and who are championing the cause of the Talmud Torah.

9. Because it is unfair to allow a few individuals to shoulder the responsibilities which belong to the entire community.

10. Because the greatest problem of the Jew in this continent is that of Jewish education, and by strengthening Jewish schools, we are hastening the dawn of the Golden Age of the Jew in North America.

EXCOMMUNICATING THE HOLY BLOSSOM COLLEGE FOR JEWISH STUDIES

Rumour has it that the local organization of Orthodox rabbis is considering excommunicating the Holy Blossom College for Jewish Studies because it is offering a course in Biblical Criticism. Though we can understand the mental attitudes of our orthodox colleagues which prompt them to regard with disfavor the teaching of biblical criticism in a synagogue, we yet fear that excommunication of the college would be an error. One way of increasing the attendance at the College would be to excommunicate it. If they should go into the excommunicating business, they should excommunicate the synagogue, its rabbi, its officers, its members, the parents of the children who attend its religious schools, the brides and grooms who were married by its rabbi, etc. The rabbis should excommunicate the Hebrew Union College, whose president is a noted biblical critic and where Biblical Criticism is taught; the Bnai Brith Lodge of Toronto, for having as its speaker Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, son of the founder of liberal Judaism; the Keren Hayesod, one of whose great

THE TALMUD TORAH

Jewish public activities, generally speaking, come under one of three categories: philanthropic, religious, cultural.

The philanthropic institutions, aiming to supply elementary needs to unfortunate ones who are unable to procure them for themselves evoke a ready response from the public who appreciate the indispensableness of basic necessities. Tell any average individual that there is a sick person without bread or an orphan without shelter and you will instantly arouse a word of compassion and obtain a donation of some sort. People do not require any theories or ideologies or parties to be moved by the simple appeals of charitable causes.

In dealing with the requirements of organized religion, the public again is inclined to be liberal in supporting its various institutions. Jews in America have spent hundreds of millions on synagogal and religious edifices. They spend severals of millions annually in maintaining them. Without being in possession of the actual figures, we dare say that the Montreal Jewish community spends not much less per year on its synagogues than it does in its Federation of Philanthropies; the budget of the former is perhaps even larger than that of the latter. A similar situation undoubtedly obtains in Toronto. The Jewish people (and the non-Jewish people, too, for that matter), take their religion for granted and provide fairly handsomely for its requirements. The Jewish districts teem with houses of worship, "minyonim," little synagogues and luxurious temples—rich and poor alike yield homage to their religion and pay its price.

When it comes to dealing with cultural matters, the public as a whole is indifferent and immotile. Cultural institutions occupy themselves with specific needs that interest only special sections of the community. They presuppose a certain attitude to life, and can appeal only to those who interpret things in a like manner. As a consequence, cultural institutions are generally in difficulties, lacking broad general support. Even a movement like Zionism, because it is motivated by a particular theory of Jewism, succeeds in enlisting but a limited number of adherents. There are many who are willing to pay for milk for poor babies, or for a comfortable pew in the house of worship. There are few who are concerned that in Palestine there shall be evolved a new culture.

Now there is still another type of institution that we might expect to be very popular, and yet somehow seems to be denied general support.

The Jewish educational institutions contain many of the features of the three other categories of institutions, and still the public remains apathetic towards them.

Any Jew who is sufficiently conscious of his Jewishness to contribute to Jewish charities will readily concede that Jewish schools are a necessity. If there is a reason for the banding together of Jews to take care of their own indigent—if it is assumed that there is a distinctively Jewish phase to charity—then it must be recognized that there is need for providing a modicum of Jewish education

The "FAME" Virgin Milk
(Genuine Sirroy-Galtier Formula)
Will permanently whiten and beautify the skin
This beneficial skin tonic does a rare thing—it whitens the skin naturally. Other skin whiteners leave a coat of white powder on the skin, but this amazingly satisfactory milk whitens the skin itself, giving it a satiny finish. If you would have your skin appear at its best this winter, try it at once.

IT IS GOOD FOR YOU and IT'S GOOD FOR US

In fact, Welsh Anthracite is good for us solely because it is good for you. We learned a long while ago that selling only products that were good for our customers wasn't just a matter of trying to be nice to them.

——but that that was the only way we could steadily increase our sales and build up a really successful business.

Our ever increasing volume of Welsh Anthracite sales is a daily reminder that quality pays.

——that Welsh Anthracite is good for us because it is good for you.

DISCRIMINATION IS THE BETTER PART OF TRAVEL

To travel in a distinguished manner across the continent is the wish always of discriminating travellers, and if your journey ends in California or along the Pacific Coast, ask nearest agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway to map out your itinerary so that you will receive the full quota of scenery. A winter in California will give you an album of memories. Pleasant memories of a fascinating country possessing a virtual infinity of charm. Grand mountains stretching into the sea, crescent-shaped beaches that are always gold except when the moon turns them silver, and such fruit that only California knows. The daily play consists of golf, polo, tennis, yachting, fishing and even flying. Dancing is for the moonlit nights. The more serious sports include hunting, but you can also be as lazy as you wish.

ANOTHER REFORM RABBI TO LONDON

Conservative London has turned once more to the Hebrew Union College for a minister. Thus Rabbi Reinhart, of Sacramento, Cal., has become the spiritual leader of Berkeley Synagogue. I have the notion that London likes America's interpretation of Liberal Judaism and it is indeed a tribute to the Hebrew Union College to have at present three of its graduates labouring in the cause of Judaism in England. With Rabbis Mattuck, Starrels and Reinhart in the field, I vision a remarkable growth of the Reform Movement in the mother country. And is it not interesting to observe that even England with its "high-church" Judaism is experiencing a psychical revolution? Liberal Judaism is marching on! Time and the spirit of the age are certainly battling in the cause of a Liberal interpretation of our faith. Who can stem the tide? Even the "chief Rabbinate" is silent. The once famous "attacks" emanating from its august offices are no longer to be heard. Why? They have proven futile. I shall not be at all surprised if within a very brief space of time London will summon another Hebrew Union graduate.

HEBREW-CHRISTIANS

So they are here again, these so-called Hebrew-Christians! I wonder what "new" message they can offer to the churches who waste so much money on them with the hopeless hope that perchance they will capture a few Jewish souls for Christianity. After all even Hebrew-Christians are expected to show "results." I wish sincere Christians for whom I have the greatest respect would not be carried away by these Hebrew-Christian fiascos. Some time ago Dr. Joseph Taubes, himself a so-called Christian Jew, wrote in an open letter to the Bishop of London as follows: "I am not bold enough to attempt giving advice to my Christian friends and to the Christian Church, but one thing I will say which may be of help to the Christian community, a lesson derived from my own sad experience: "There was never in modern times a sincere Christian taken from the House of Israel and never were the money and labour of our Christian fellowmen spent in so vain a purpose as in the mission bent upon the pretended conversion of Jews. . . . The dissemination of the Gospel among the Jews has but one effect—to change the converted Jew into a Godless being. The Jew can never believe in Jesus as the Personal Messiah. A Jew, though he be sprinkled with baptismal water, remains a Jew still. Finally, when the end approaches, and sincerity and honesty have not died out altogether, he returns to those from whose midst he sprung." Will Christians please Christianize Christians? I'll see to it that Jews Judaize Jews. The world has room for all faiths and creeds. Let us not try to convert each other. The Hebrew-Christians are wasting energy.

TO THE FREIMANS

You have impressed me with your zeal for Jew and Jewish Palestine. On this your twenty-fifth wedding anniversary—my Mozol Tov to you.

FROM MY DIARY

I am in the Jewish colonies of the Crimea. It's remarkable to see Jews dig into the soil. These small, small shopkeepers have painfully but quickly learned to be farmers. Of course they couldn't help themselves. Between starvation and farming they chose "farming." American Jewry did much to establish these fine colonies. "But," and there is a but, I wish that not only Jews be saved, but also Judaism. I am afraid that the young colonists are better "yids" than Jews. They speak Yiddish and Russian, but Hebrew is "tref." Hebrew culture is anti-Bolshevik. I see no future for Judaism in Russia even in the Jewish colonies.

"Sometimes when people censure me,
I tell them without remorse
That for what it cost me to be free
I might have had an anchor."

Simultaneous with the thirteenth annual Good Will Congress of the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches held in New York, November 11 and 13, to promote an international peace campaign, Colonel Edward M. House, world statesman, made public the principle embodied in a peace plan submitted to the League of Nations and of which he is the first sponsor. This plan, placed before the League of Nations two weeks ago by General Fritz Holm, of Copenhagen, would make it an unwritten law that those responsible for declaring war should be compelled to serve with the fighting forces.

The Holm Plan really originated in Iceland with an Icelandic scholar, Dr. Finnbogason, and when debated in Denmark and Germany this year it was called "The Icelandic Proposition." Dr. Finnbogason lectured on war prevention before the Peace Society of Copenhagen and discussions on it have been going on in Danish newspapers. If anything ever comes of it it must not be forgotten that the idea originated in a book from the hand of a man of peace and not in the councils of rulers or magnates or warriors who should know best what war means.

The selection of Colonel House to sponsor the Holm Plan in the United States is most fitting considering that he was confidential adviser to President Wilson and probably knows more of the real history of the World War than any other living American. As unofficial representative of President Wilson he was in Europe just before war broke out in 1914, trying to lay the basis for a general international peace agreement. Up to the time the United States went into the war, Colonel House conferred in intimacy and confidence with European kings and prime ministers proposing peace plans and trying to find some way by which the war might be stopped. Colonel House now says that for years he has been in favour of the principle in the Holm plan by which those voting for war would be sent into danger. Although he favours an unwritten law, the plan before the League of Nations calls for a model law to be adopted by every nation as national legislation.

This law would be based on the principle that officials who have allowed their country to enter war are no longer qualified to fill offices, and that they, all their male blood relatives over sixteen, all male officials and all members of the cabinet or parliament who voted for war should be mobilized immediately and assigned to shock troops to be dispatched at once to the front along with bishops, prelates and ecclesiastics who failed to oppose the war! The law would also call for the mobilization of wives and daughters of aforesaid officials as simple nurses or servants for service only at the front. Also the plan provides for the creation of an army of 5,000 male voters to see that these provisions are carried out.

The young men who died in the war were delivered into horror and death by their elders among the statesmen, propagandists, politicians and spiritual leaders, so called, most of whom, fighting a valiant war with words, expressed their deeply moved regret that they were too old to fight. Not too human or too proud to fight, but too old, alas. You recall what a sad spectacle they were so far away from the front-line trenches but doing what they could for the greater glory of God. The Holm Plan would let these men have their wish and with them their women folks who were so eager in their response to the flags and fanfare of trumpets as to often shame youth into sacrifice. Its succinct provision for bishops, prelates and ecclesiastics is as searing an arraignment of the clergy before the eyes of the world as it is possible to imagine.

Colonel House in sponsoring the Holm Plan believes that its effectivity lies in the power of public opinion to drive into actual danger those who vote for conflict. If there is a possibility of this there is certainly a possibility then of public opinion backing the adoption of the Holm Plan to begin with. Its simplicity and practical aspects recommend it above visionary schemes swaddled in red tape and countless provisions. It is good to hear a man of Colonel House's peculiar experience put his faith on a carefully guided public opinion and what it can do. And why not? It kept the war going. Only the most cynical and disillusioned will doubt that it can do as much for peace.

It Came to Pass That——

This CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW feature must prove of absorbing interest to all its readers, especially the young folks. It is a history of the Jewish people through centuries recorded by days. Buy a loose-leaf note book, clip this account and paste it in. If you do this every week, in time you will possess a hand-book of value. The historian is Dr. Cecil Roth, of London, England, fellow of the Royal Historical Society, author and essayist.

NOVEMBER 23RD

Expulsion from Naples, 1510. The Jews had been settled in Southern Italy ever since the Roman times; and, despite a persecution under the Angevin sovereigns at the close of the thirteenth century, they had enjoyed on the whole peace and tranquillity. As was the case in many other quarters of the globe, in the Old World and the New, this condition of affairs was ended by the Spanish conquest. A few Marranos from the Peninsula had settled in the kingdom since the intensification of the persecution at home; and this afforded ample pretext for Naples to be rendered as clear from every taint of disbelief as the neighbouring island of Sicily and the rest of the Spanish dominions. On November 23, 1510, in spite of the opposition of the general population, an edict was issued for the expulsion of the Jews from the kingdom; and it was immediately carried into effect. Only two hundred families were allowed to remain, these being chased out in their turn thirty years later. It was not until recent times that the Jews began to settle again in this region in small numbers.

NOVEMBER 24TH

Deliverance at Carpentras, 1512. The details of the event are vague. Apparently, some licentious troops entered the Carriere (as the Jewish quarter was locally called) and began to plunder it. The community feared utter extermination, but order was restored in time, it seemed, as a result of a direct miracle. In gratitude for this, a local Purim was installed, celebrated year by year with a special service in the synagogue, and general festivities.

NOVEMBER 25TH

Friendly Bull of Martin V, 1420. The fanaticism aroused by the Hussite wars had brought about grave disturbances throughout Germany, leading in many cases to the kidnapping and baptism of Jewish children. This became even more common after the Wiener Geserah (May 23, 1420), when the community of Vienna was exterminated. An appeal for protection was accordingly made to the Pope, Martin V, recently elected at the Council of Constance. His reply was favourable. By a Bull, Concession Judaeis, of November 25, 1420, he confirmed all old privileges and concessions made to the Jews by his predecessors. Above all, he ordered that no Jewish child under the age of twelve was to be baptized by force or without his parents' permission.

NOVEMBER 26TH

Death of Hardenberg, 1822. It was to this statesman that Prussia largely owed that moral reintegration which raised the country from the ruin into which it had been thrown by Napoleon's overwhelming victories and paved the way for the War of Liberation of 1812. For this, he considered the co-operation of all classes essential, and it accordingly became part of his policy to secure the emancipation of the Jews. He was thus largely responsible for the edict of Frederick William III of March 11, 1812, which granted them civil equality, within certain limits. After the completion of the task of liberating his own country, he endeavoured to extend the same privileges to the other states, and at the Congress of Vienna, in framing the constitution of the Germanic Federation, he worked to obtain the inclusion of a clause which would put the Jews of all of the German states on the same footing as those of Prussia. He met with a certain measure of success; but in the reaction which followed the greater part of his work was nullified.

NOVEMBER 27TH

Foundation of the Verein fur Cultur und Wissenschaft der Judon, 1819. Its seat was at Berlin; its inspirer, the young Leopold Zunz; and its first president, Eduard Gans, the jurist. The object was to study "the historical development and the philosophic worth" of Judaism. It aroused great enthusiasm amongst the finest brains among the younger generation of German Jewry, one of its members being Heinrich Heine. A school, and then a periodical were founded by the association. The first enthusiasm, however, waned. Eduard Gans became baptized for the sake of receiving appointment to a professorship, in which he was followed by Heinrich Heine, and the society fell to pieces. It had not existed in vain, however, as it had succeeded in stimulating the Jewish interest in men like Leopold Zunz himself. It was thus in many ways the foster-parent of the noble Judische Wissenschaft of the nineteenth century.

NOVEMBER 28TH

Prague Judenstadt plundered, 1744. When, during the War of Austrian Succession, Prague capitulated to Frederick the Great after a lengthy siege, the populace vented its spleen, as was usual, by turning against the Jews. Only the appearance of General Harrach at the head of a detachment of troops prevented a massacre on this occasion. But the peril was not past. For, when Frederick confirmed the privileges, the nobility, the magistrates and the university, he did not forget the Jews, and ordered the restitution of all the property taken from them in the recent disorders. The Jews, and the Jews alone, were suspected of treachery in consequence of having availed themselves of this opportunity. Accordingly, immediately the Prussians evacuated the city the Ghetto was again attached, with the help of the wild Croatian soldiery. For thirty hours it was at the mercy of the mob, and was plundered from end to end. The very ancient Altschule, one of the oldest synagogues in Europe, was sacked and partially demolished by the Croats. Many Jews who were captured without their possessions were branded in order to make them betray the hiding-place of their treasures. As if this punishment was not enough, it was succeeded on December 18 by an edict of expulsion from the city.

NOVEMBER 29TH

Massacre of Jews in Augsburg, 1348. The wave of butchery at the time of the Black Death, after beginning in Switzerland, passed into Bavaria. Here, in the month of November, massacres occurred in nearly eighty different places including (besides Augsburg) Wurzburg and Munich. Then the movement passed up the Rhine, where the worst atrocities of all took place. The burghers of Augsburg subsequently obtained from the Emperor a free pardon for their action.

An open meeting of the Lord Beaconsfield group of the Young Judaeans was held Sunday afternoon, November 17, at the vestry room of the synagogue. The meeting was conducted by the president of the group, Saul Cohen. The bible was read by Sidney Cohan; minutes of the last meeting read by Harold Plishow; Saul Cohen summed up activities of the last year; Harold Lyons reported on the scrap book; Abraham Silverman, the literary work, and Milton Rabkin, orchestra. After a talk by Rabbi Feldman the chair was turned over to the leader of the group, Earl Lyons. Affirmative, Benjamin Cohen and Harold Plishow; negative, Norman Simons and Edward Mack. The judges, Dr. Charles Moses, Rabbi Feldman and D. Davidovitz, decided for the negative. D. Robinson spoke. In the Royal Connaught Hotel, a peace meeting under the auspices of the various Jewish women's associations of Hamilton was held. Misses Edna Rathkin, Shirley, Lily and Rose Wright were ushers. Miss S. Mintz, second vice-president of the Council of Jewish Women, spoke. Miss Mintz mentioned how fitting it was that Jewish women should have organized the peace meeting since peace was the watchword of the Jewish people of old; for when people meet and part in Palestine they use the Hebraic expression for peace. She paid tribute to the late Mrs. Marietta S. Levy. Rabbi A. A. Feldman delivered a memorial prayer. Miss Mintz then turned the chairmanship over to Miss B. Cohen, the peace chairman. A reading was given by Dorothy Taylor. Mrs. G. S. Dunn, of the League of Nations Society, spoke on the history of the peace movement of the League of Nations. Miss Norma Gunner sang, accompanied by Miss Bertha Minden. Miss Cohen introduced Mrs. Ida Seigel, of Toronto, associate convenor of the church committee of the Toronto branch of the League of Nations Society. Mrs. Seigel said that the Great War had claimed 10,000 miles of dead and that a march of all who died in the armies of the Allies would take two and one-half months to pass a given point. Mrs. A. Lyons, president of the Deborah Ladies' Aid Society, moved the vote of thanks. Mrs. B. G. Kenter, president of the Hadassah, seconded it. Miss Cohen read a communication from the church committee of the League of Nations Society, of Toronto, that their resolution be adopted by the various organizations of Hamilton. Mrs. H. G. Fenster, recording secretary of the Council, moved its adoption. Mrs. M. Silverman seconded the motion. Rabbi Feldman delivered the closing prayer.

SIGMA TAU LAW FRATERNITY HEARS MR. JUSTICE RIDDELL

The Honourable Mr. Justice Riddell, Justice of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, addressed a dinner of Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Tau Law fraternity tendered in honour of the Jewish members of the bar in the Great Hall of Hart House, Thursday, November 15, on the subject "Lenroot, Kellogg and Calvin." David A. Robinson, Hamilton, was chairman. A toast was proposed to Mr. Justice Riddell by Mr. Robinson to which Mr. Justice Riddell responded. Mr. Justice Riddell traced the legal status of the British Dominions in the Empire from 1600 to the present day. He declared that the unity of the British Empire depended upon the continuance of the principle laid down in the famous "Post Nati" case of 1608, in which it was decided that Calvin, a Scotsman, was subject to the same King as Englishmen, but not to England. He contrasted the famous reservation of Senator Lenroot that the six votes of the British Dominions ought to entitle the United States to an equal number in the League of Nations covenant, with the more enlightened view of Secretary of State Kellogg who insisted that the Dominions were separate nations. The principle of the Post Nati case was being applied to modern conditions. Had the legal principles of that case been adhered to there would have been no American Revolution. The legal theory of the British Empire to-day is that every part of the world which owes allegiance to the King of England owes it to him as an individual, not to England, Scotland or Ireland.

Among those present at the dinner, were: E. F. Singer, K.C., Samuel Factor, Harry M. Sherman, Herzl Rotenberg, Irvine Dickler, H. M. Goodman, Joseph Newman, Louis Rasminsky, S Goodman, Norman Wolfson, L. N. Sukloff, Herman Moscoe, M. Frankel, M. S. Lewis, N. Phillips, Henry Rosenberg, A. Singer, Nathan Strauss, J. H. Greenberg, M. Rotstein, J. W. Broudy, K. Koskey, J. D. Pearlstein, H. A. Minden, of Hamilton; M. A. Levy, H. S. Chaplan, M. Benson, J. J. Glass, L. A. Maldover, C. Walfish, D. B. Goodman, Henry Papernick, L. Hyman, of Oshawa; B. Weinberg, Jack Markus, Joseph Minsky, William Feinberg, Harry Mandell, M. E. Teskey, Edward Pearlman, Nathan Taylor, Jack Wahl, Lou Herman, H. M. Swartz, Wilfrid Wolman, Harry Green, Harold Siegel and Norman Borinsky. A vote of thanks to the speaker was proposed by E. F. Singer, K.C., and seconded by Harry Green. The chairman announced that Mr. Justice Riddell had accepted honorary membership in the fraternity. The verbatim report of Mr. Justice Riddell's address will appear in the next issue of "Lex," the monthly journal of Sigma Tau Law fraternity published in New York.

to Jewish children. Minimal education is now recognized as an elementary necessity even in the most backward communities. The Jews who contribute to charity must also realize that it is incumbent upon them to maintain Jewish schools for Jewish children.

From the religious angle, it is again evident that the claim of the school should strike the average Jew as cogently as the claim of the "shule." The "talmud torahs" generally have a religious colouring. Any Jew who pays to a synagogue ought to feel obliged to participate in the maintenance of his religious schools. If you do not teach religion to the young, you will have no religion when the young become adults.

To sponsors of Jewish culture, the importance of the problem of Jewish education is obvious. Of course to the progressive Jew, the Talmud Torah with its inevitable touch of the archaic can never appear as the solvent of the problem. Certainly, the radical "Volks schulen," with their modern conception of the Jewish situation have many educational features, both from the point of view of curriculum and methodology, which make them in many respects superior to the Talmud Torahs. But they have their drawbacks. And besides, the circumstance must be reckoned with that of the general public—conservatively inclined as it is—will not countenance the "Volks Schulen," and will insist on their Talmud Torahs. So for them Talmud Torahs it must be. The protagonist of Jewish culture is therefore constrained—even if with reservations—to give support to the Talmud Torahs as instrumentalities for promoting Jewish education.

The Toronto Jewish community, thanks to the efforts of a few zealous individuals, has among its institutions, a Talmud Torah building which is one of the finest edifices of the sort on the continent. The Talmud Torah structure is equipped to serve a very large number of children. The school maintained therein is fortunately under the direction of a very capable man, young, modern, and conversant with the best thought on the subject of education. The management board for the most part has shown a remarkable susceptibility to new ideas on education. On the whole therefore, there is an opportunity in Toronto of developing the Talmud Torah into an institution really worth while.

We understand that the Talmud Torah has fallen in line with the other major institutions of the city—prepared to campaign the community for support. It has a considerable deficit to contend with, and is asking the public to come to its aid.

The few enthusiasts at its head will do more than their share for the Talmud Torah.

The public all classes—the charity givers, the religious Jews, the culture sponsors—cannot but recognize the justness of the Talmud Torah's claim for support and will respond generously to its appeal.

THE BANQUET IN HONOUR OF M. GELBER

On the occasion of the opening of the Talmud Torah campaign next Monday evening, leaders of the Toronto Jewish community are preparing to do honour to Moses Gelber, the head of the institution, and chairman of the campaign.

Mr. Gelber is undoubtedly the outstanding member of the orthodox section of the local Jewish community. There is no sphere of communal endeavour in which Mr. Gelber is not a leading figure. Jewish cultural activities represented by Zionism and the Hebrew Free School have, however, chiefly claimed his attention.

For years Mr. Gelber has been at the head of the Zionist efforts in this section of the country. And it is generally recognized that the local Talmud Torah—the splendid institution which we now have—could not have materialized if it were not for Mr. Gelber's devotion to the cause and his persistence in seeing the proposition through.

We believe that communal leaders should consider the criticism—sound, intelligent, criticism which they often get, a privilege. But they are entitled on occasions to evidence of appreciation from their co-workers and the public. Manifestations of goodwill serve as encouragement, and public workers are but human and do need encouragement.

Mr. Gelber is deserving of honour, and we are glad that the supporters of the institution to which his most enthusiastic efforts have been dedicated are taking this opportunity to show him their affection and appreciation.—A.B.B.

leaders is Stephen S. Wise, who preaches Biblical Criticism. They should excommunicate the CANADIAN JEWISH REVIEW, most of whose, if not all of whose, editors accept in general the results of Biblical criticism. In other words, the rabbis could leave their congregations and duties and do nothing but excommunicate.

The principles of liberal Judaism are well known. Holy Blossom Synagogue as a body has accepted them. Its rabbi advocates them. Its teachers champion them. It sails under no false colours. Liberal Judaism is the latest outpost on the frontier of an ever expanding and developing Judaism.

The function of a college is to teach, to present truth. The privilege of a pupil is to hear and digest what is taught—to accept or reject the presentation of the teacher. Those who take the course in Biblical Criticism in the Holy Blossom College for Jewish Studies do so because they seek enlightenment. They are bound neither to accept or reject the findings of the teacher. They may even refute him.

TO THE JEWS OF TORONTO

Jewish Learning has been throughout the ages, the rock upon which Judaism rested. It has been the Jew's chief weapon against annihilation, it has been the things which made Judaism worth while, worth living for, worth suffering for, and worth dying for when necessary.

What are we going to leave to our children? What Spiritual heritage? What desire to continue as Jews? What equipment to enable them to carry on the glorious torch of Judaism? There is only one answer to it, Jewish Religious Schools, good Jewish Schools and many of them.

My colleagues and I have done our humble share for the sacred cause, and we are ready to do more and ever more for Jewish Education. Our work and our money is not sufficient. WE ARE TOO FEW. We need more Jews to help us in this work. We are now launching a campaign for $75,000.00 to pay off our debt to the Bank, and thereby enable us to consolidate our work and expand it. In the latter work we have already progressed by opening a branch in the Hillcrest district, and we hope, with your help, to expand still more.

As President of the Toronto Hebrew Free School, the largest and finest Jewish school in Canada, I appeal to you as a Jewish citizen of Toronto, for your whole-hearted support.

Will Jewish children remain Jewish? It depends upon you. Will you help us? Trusting that you will, I beg to remain,

Very sincerely yours,

M. Gelber.
